

Miss Geoghegan went on a walk recently and used an egg carton to collect flowers with a variety of colours. You can see her examples below. She sorted them into warm and cool colours and primary and secondary colours. Unfortunately, we are unable to go for a walk currently as a class. Therefore, you can become colour scavengers for your homework!

Task: Using an egg carton or even a bag, can you go on a colour hunt around your local community. Take your colour wheel with you and mindfully look up, around and down to see what interesting colours you can find. You can then sort them into warm and cool colours and try to make a design as below. We are really excited to see what you can find and share with us!

Example for your task:

Reflect afterwards:

1. What have you found?
2. What are the colours called?
3. Was it possible to find all the colours in nature?
4. What is the dominant colour that you found?
5. Do you think the colours change at any time?
