

Connectives

The words and, but, or are joining words. Joining words are called connectives and are used to join other words and parts of sentences together. To help your learning, watch this video to find out more:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RCRiI9NQwOI>

you and me

fish and chips

small but strong

1. Think of 5 pairs of things and people that are often joined together with 'and'.

Examples: bread and butter

Jack and Jill

2. Can you think of any phrases using 'but' to join to different ideas.

Example: slow but steady

3. Write 3 sentences using any of the following connectives: but / and / or/ both/ either

Example: Both Max and his sister Jane love eating jelly.